Movember

Our fathers, partners, brothers and friends face a health crisis that isn't being talked about. Men are dying too young. We can't afford to stay silent.

The Movember organisation is taking action.

As the leading charity changing the face of men's health, they address some of the biggest health issues faced by men: prostate cancer, testicular cancer, and mental health and suicide prevention.

The state of men's health is in crisis.

Men experience worse longer-term health than women and die on average six years earlier. Prostate cancer rates will double in the next 15 years. Testicular cancer rates have already doubled in the last 50. Three quarters of suicides are men. Poor mental health leads to half a million men taking their own life every year. That's one every minute.

Movember is finding and funding the most innovative research to have both a global and local impact. They continuously challenge the status quo, and invest quickly in what works. In 15 years they've funded more than 1,200 men's health projects around the world.

By 2030 Movember aims to reduce the number of men dying prematurely by 25%.
